Juvenile fire-setters: Traditionally ignored, hidden problem

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

A devastating fire Saturday that left six families homeless and caused nearly $100,000 in damage was started by a 4-year-old boy playing a dangerous game with a hairspray can and a cigarette lighter, fire officials say.

It was at least the fifth blaze set by the youngster, who had ignited a mattress, towels, curtains and a cat in separate incidents in the past, Capt. Bob Dawes of the Granite City Fire Department said.

Dawes, who spearheads the Juvenile Fire-setter program for the department, related the story of another boy who, at age seven, poured gasoline on his 3-month-old baby brother and burned the baby to death in his crib. At age eight he unsuccessfully attempted the same thing with his father. He tried to burn the neighbors' house down at age nine, and the next year he tried to burn his mother.

Nobody knows what will eventually become of these troubled youths. Juvenile fire-setters have traditionally been ignored or "shuffled off to the back room" in the past, Dawes said.

But the fire-setter program, implemented last year by the Granite City Fire Department and St. Elizabeth Medical Center, attempts to determine the underlying causes of fire-setting behavior and provide appropriate therapy for the offenders.

"Except for the case of pyromania, which is extremely rare, fire-setting is always a symptom of some other cause," Dawes said.

The Juvenile Fire-setter program is the only program of its kind in Metro East. It is designed to determine what motivates the juvenile fire-setter and then provide a behavior modification regimen to prevent future incidents. The program, which takes referrals from the Madison County Juvenile Court system, the Department of Children and Family Services, and "anyone else who has a fire-setter," was instituted in response to a problem Fire Chief Jerry Wallace said had been virtually ignored in the past.

"We were experiencing a lot of fires, from small ones to very large ones, started by kids," Wallace said.

A lot of kids go through a natural curiosity phase. They are fascinated by fire and tend to emulate their parents in terms of use of matches and things like that.

But others display patterns of behavior that are much more extreme," Wallace said. "The program targets those youths and offers education and intervention in response to a significant problem that has unfortunately pretty much gone unattended in the past."

In fact, Dawes said, 60 percent of all fires that result in arson arrests are set by juveniles. Of those children arrested, 80 percent are under the age of ten years.

Even more disturbing is the fact that 80 percent of all deaths of children under the age of five is due to a child-set fire, Dawes said.

Weber payment attacked

O'Neill alleges Haine misconduct

Dan O'Neill

Putting a new twist on an old story, Dan O'Neill has tied an allegation of "official misconduct" to his charges that Madison County State's Attorney Bill Haine cut a smoke-filled-room deal with former State's Attorney Don Weber prior to the 1988 general election.

O'Neill, who is opposing Haine in the Democratic Primary March 17, claims Haine agreed to hire Weber, a Republican, in return for having Weber drop out of the general election, leaving Haine unopposed.

O'Neill's latest allegations attempt to tie the alleged deal to a settlement of a $35,000 bill for attorneys who defended Weber when he was charged with official misconduct while he was state's attorney. Weber was cleared of the charges. The payment, which settled a lawsuit filed against the county by the attorneys who defended Weber, was approved by a court order soon after Haine took office in December 1988.

Haine called the latest allegation, and the previous allegations, "insane" and said, "If Don Weber didn't exist, Dan O'Neill would have to invent him. That's the only issue he's got and it isn't a real one. He admitted as much to an Edwardsville newspaper, saying his attacks were speculation on what might have happened.

O'Neill served as an assistant state's attorney under Dick Allen, who was defeated by Haine in the 1988 Democratic Primary. O'Neill said Allen had refused to pay the bill because the attorneys, Ed Moorman and Donald Groshong, were not employed by the county, had not been appointed by court order and were not working on county business.

Continue probe in man's death from fall, jury urges

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

A Madison County coroner's jury has ruled the cause of the death of a Granite City man — allegedly pushed through a plate glass window — as undetermined.

The jury further ruled Wednesday that an investigation into the manner of the death of Lynn A. Mikolaszuk, 30, be continued.

According to a report filed by Chief Coroner's Investigator Ralph Baahimann Jr., Mikolaszuk was pronounced dead at 10:42 p.m. Jan. 29 in the emergency room at St. Anthony's Hospital in Alton.

According to Christopher Sullivan, a patrolman with the investigative division of the Alton Police Department, police responded to a fight with a serious injury in the 300 block of Plaza Street in Alton shortly after 9 p.m. Jan. 29.

Sullivan testified that witnesses at the scene reported a "violent argument" between Mikolaszuk and James Schmieg, 29, of Alton.

Witnesses said the two were pushing, shoving and punching each other as the fight spilled from the sidewalk into traffic lanes on the street.

The fight then resumed on the sidewalk, where, witnesses said, Schmieg pushed Mikolaszuk through a 1/4-inch plate glass window at the Oasis Caravan resale store before falling through the window himself, Sullivan testified.

At one point in the fight, witnesses reported, one of the men picked up a newspaper machine and flung it into the street at the other, Sullivan said.

Schmieg was charged Jan. 30 with involuntary manslaughter. He attended the inquest but, on the advice of his attorney, did not testify.

Both Public Defender John Rekowski, who is representing Schmieg, and Assistant State's Attorney Rich Rybak, who is trying the case, were present.

While Sullivan testified that police have at least two witnesses who allegedly saw a fight between the two men, Schmieg's brother denied that claim.

Jeff Schmieg, 32, said he did not see either man go through the window because he had gone to get his truck, planning to meet the two at the corner.

While the elder Schmieg got his truck, he said his brother and Mikolaszuk walked across the parking lot after the three had left Danny's, a bar in downtown Alton.

Jeff Schmieg testified that when he got around the corner he saw Mikolaszuk lying face down outside the window with his brother beside him, pressing on Mikolaszuk's back in an attempt to revive him.

Probation for ex-dispatcher

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

A former Madison police dispatcher, charged with official misconduct after an inmate hanged himself in a jail cell, was sentenced Wednesday to two years of probation.

Dennis Mize, 37, of Madison pleaded guilty to the charge Oct. 15 in connection with the Aug. 3, 1991, death of Stephen Hicks of Meadowbrook.

Mize was charged Aug. 28, a week after a coroner's inquest into the death of Hicks' 34. Hicks was found dead in a Madison jail cell shortly after 4 a.m. Aug. 3.

During the inquest, Lt. Paul Bargiel testified that Hicks and another prisoner in the next cell had not been checked on for more than three hours. State law and the Madison Police Department both require cell checks every half-hour.

According to a coroner's report, Hicks had used a strip of blanket from the cell's bed to make a noose and then tied the other end onto a support bar of the cell about 7 feet, 2 inches in the air.

Hicks had been arrested in Cottage Hills on a warrant for failure to appear on a disorderly conduct charge filed by Madison police.

Assistant State's Attorney Rob Elowitz argued during Wednesday's hearing that Mize's negligence was only half the crime.

"(Mize) was not only negligent in the performance of his duties, he also possessed the mind-set to go back and falsify documents to cover his

Building name prompts fight

By Randy Vaughn
Staff writer

Ten weeks before it is scheduled to open, Madison County's new government building has been named — but not without a fight.

After rejecting a call Wednesday to delay naming the building, the Madison County Board approved "Madison County Administration Building" as the name for the $17-million facility.

Board member Homer Henke, R-More, was among those seeking to delay naming the facility. He said more time was needed to allow all members to make name recommendations.

"The building is going to be there for our grandchildren's children and belong to all county citizens," Henke said. "All county board members should have an opportunity to submit names."

Even school children should have an opportunity to submit names, Henke said.

Donald Rea, D-Granite City, agreed, adding that it is not abnormal in such situations to commemorate some of the area's more prominent citizens.

But Robert Stille, D-Edwardsville, said that it was his understanding that the name for the building had long been decided.

The new building has been under construction for nearly two years and in the planning stage long before then, Herbert Milton, D-Granite City, said, adding that there has been plenty of time to submit names.

The name "Madison County Administration Building" was approved by the board.

Breaking the cycle

Counseling service offers help to troubled students

Free consultation aiding troubled teens
By Randy Vaughn
Staff writer

Poor school attendance, poor conduct and poor grades often reflect problems outside of school.

But there is a solution to this familiar cycle, said Harriet Grazman, director of the School Consultation Service at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The service, operating in the Granite City School District since 1986, offers students professional intervention before deeper emotional, social or academic problems arise, she said.

"When any teacher, parent, or school administrator has a concern about a student who doesn't look happy or who seems withdrawn, we can help," Grazman said. "There is a need to observe significant — or simply noticeable — changes in students' behavior."

The program is designed to prevent a more serious crisis in the future. The goal is to avoid hospitalization by intervening early

Granite City

Charged in warrants

John Robert Williams, 20, of the 2200 block of East 23rd Street was arrested at his home Feb. 8 on Granite City and Venice warrants alleging failure to appear on charges of operating an uninsured motor vehicle.

Driver halted, arrested

A woman driver was stopped on Feb. 9 at Nameoki and Johnson roads when officers observed her vehicle was without license plates. Kara Renae Heath, 20, of Kaseberg Road was then arrested on a warrant alleging failure to appear on a charge of disobeying a traffic signal.

Arrested on warrant

Granite City police stopped a South Roxana man on Feb. 10 after a registration plate check showed he was wanted on a warrant. Darren Jay Ward, 26, was arrested at 21st Street and Madison Avenue on a warrant for failure to appear on traffic charges.

Woman booked for DUI

Patricia Ann Patton, 41, of the 2200 block of Adams Street was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol Feb. 7. Officers stopped her vehicle at 22nd Street and Delmar Avenue. Also charged with illegal transportation of alcohol, she posted bail and was released.

Wounded man arrested

Granite City officers were dispatched to St. Elizabeth Medical Center on Feb. 10 and charged Ricky L. Cox, 39, of the 2100 block of Dewey Avenue with unlawful possession of a bag of cannabis.

Cox had entered the hospital with wounds suffered apparently from being stabbed with an ice pick.

Officers noted several minor wounds on the left side of Cox's chest, but he declined to give information on how he was injured. He was turned over to police following treatment.

Beer, cannabis charges

Philip White, 31, of the 4100 block of Pontoon Road was charged with illegal transportation of beer, improper lane usage and unlawful possession of two cannabis cigarettes on Feb. 10. Officers had observed White's vehicle at 19th Street and Niedringhaus Avenue and halted it at West 21st Street and Illinois Avenue.

Fire damage — A Granite City firefighter throws a smoldering mattress outside the residence of Christopher Lilley in the 2500 block of East 27th Street on Tuesday afternoon. Granite City Fire Chief Jerry Wallace said it is believed the blaze started from a discarded cigarette in the living room couch. The fire was contained within the living room, and most of the damage was due to smoke. Firefighters were at the scene for nearly two hours. Damage to the home and contents was estimated at $12,000.

enough to help students find effective ways to manage problems.

Difficulties at school could be due to social problems, depression, family chemical abuse, unresolved grief, relocation, or a family tragedy, Grazman said.

"If there is something in students' life outside of school that is draining them or keeping them from concentrating on school work, we help them manage the problem area in their lives," she said.

Consultation and mental health education are offered to students, parents, and teachers at area schools at no cost to the school or the student, Grazman said. The hospital pays the cost of the service.

"We've also had a positive impact on teachers' morale by letting them know they have one more resource when a situation with a student arises."

The program started in the Granite City School District in 1986 and the Collinsville School District in 1988. The service also worked with University City (Mo.) High School in 1987 through 1989.

"We consult with other schools upon request as well," Grazman said.

After teaching for 15 years in University City, Grazman said, she realized that a lot of the problems inside schools were based on issues outside.

"It made good sense to me to address the problems from a mental health perspective," she said.

This realization lured her to graduate school to train in psychotherapy and to postgraduate training in advanced psychotherapy.

She was attracted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center because of its adolescent and child mental health inpatient psychiatric unit.

One-third of the service's cases are labeled emergency, in which prevention measures are immediately sought, Grazman said. About half of those situations involve a student who may have suicidal thoughts or intentions.

"The law states that we can make prevention contacts in emergency situations without parental permission."

"When we can't meet the needs of the students, we contact the parents and other community resources that could help," she said. Parent permission is sought for ongoing contacts.

The other two-thirds of the cases involve individual psychotherapy, crisis intervention education, mental health education seminars in schools and communities, and a "teen survival skills" summer program designed to assist area students with changes in their lives, she said.

Teen survival skills sessions cover such topics as drug abuse, assertiveness training, social skills building, stress management and teen relationships.

"We have just started a parents survival skills workshop entitled 'Reflections: Your Child and You' that will give awareness to parents of the factors in their own lives that affect their children's lives."

All the programs have been credited with being successful.

Grazman said, "When there has been a school-wide crisis, such as a suicide, we have noticed that those whom we've had contact with in the past have been able to manage the situation more effectively."

Man charged in stabbing death in Fairview Heights

By Liz Quirin
Staff writer

An O'Fallon man was arraigned Monday at the St. Clair County Jail on a first degree murder charge in the stabbing death Saturday of a 27-year-old Fairview Heights woman.

Anthony Boyd Tucker, 27, of 206 Estate St. Apt. D, was being held at the jail without bond Monday. He was arrested Saturday in connection with the murder of Margaret M. Pfeiffer, Associate Judge C. Glenn Stevens appointed a public defender for Tucker at the arraignment.

Tucker implicated himself, police said, in the stabbing of Pfeiffer, an interior designer at Blyss Ethan Allen Galleries in Fairview Heights.

Pfeiffer was stabbed several times, probably between 3 a.m. and 5 a.m., said Fairview Heights Police Chief Roger Richards.

Police are also investigating the possibility of adding criminal sexual assault to the list of charges against Tucker, Richards said.

If convicted of murder, Tucker could qualify for the death penalty under Illinois law, Richards said.

"It's possible (for him) to get the death penalty because he was arrested for the commission of a homicide while committing a felony (burglary)," Richards said.

Richards said police had not determined whether anything was taken from the apartment.

Tucker went to the police station about 9:30 a.m. Saturday to report he had found a body at the apartment his girlfriend shared with Pfeiffer, but there were inconsistencies in his statement, Richards said.

Police declined to release the name of the girlfriend. Investigators found Pfeiffer's body and later recovered a knife. Police didn't know Monday if the knife came from Pfeiffer's apartment or if Tucker brought the knife with him, Richards said.

There was no forced entry into the apartment, Richards said.

Police said Tucker took his girlfriend's car after she fell asleep at Tucker's apartment in O'Fallon. Her key ring had her apartment key on it, Richards said.

"We're speculating Tucker went there to burglarize the apartment," Richards said. "She (Pfeiffer) obviously knew him."

Police believe Pfeiffer confronted Tucker, who then killed her.

Richards said police questioned Tucker's girlfriend, but "she is not being held and is not implicated in any way."

Pfeiffer also worked part-time at S & P Oyster Co. as a waitress. An obituary notice appears elsewhere in this issue.

Safety belt blitz

Results: Progress toward 70 percent compliance

An increasing number of Illinois motorists are taking the extra seconds to buckle-up before traveling onto Illinois roadways. This announcement comes on the heels of the Illinois State Police's second three-week safety belt blitz which ended Sunday.

"The results from the blitz indicate progress is being made in reaching our goal of 70 percent voluntary compliance by the end of this year," said Illinois State Police Director Terrance W. Gainer.

"Although no formal surveys were conducted, troopers report that more motorists are wearing their seat belts. We are waiting the outcome of a current study being done by the Illinois Department of Transportation to get a clearer view of the overall picture."

The blitz, which ran from Jan.

19 through Feb. 9, resulted in a total of 11,306 enforcement contacts for occupant restraint violations.

Troopers issued 6,030 citations and 4,793 written warnings for violations of seat belt laws. Additionally, 367 motorists received citations while 116 warnings were written for disobeying child restraint laws.

This resulted in a 451 percent increase in occupant restraint citations compared to the same time period last year. Together with the first blitz (Nov. 17-Dec. 7) occupant restraint enforcement increased 430 percent as troopers issued 8,369 more occupant restraint tickets than during the same six-week period last year.

Gainer said the blitzes weren't intended to be bounty hunts on drivers who don't use seat belts, but were designed to remind drivers of a cold, hard fact — if you buckle-up, your chances of being killed or seriously hurt in an auto accident are greatly reduced.

"We wanted motorists to focus on the reality that tragedies can be prevented — tragedies which may involve them or their loved ones — by taking the few seconds necessary to properly fasten their seat belts and child restraint seats."

Although encouraged by the success of the blitzes, Gainer emphasized that seat belt enforcement will remain a high priority for the Illinois State Police. He added that future blitzes will occur until the 70 percent compliance rate is solidly secured. "It is important that the momentum is sustained," said Gainer. "Especially when the momentum relates to saving lives."

Grant may help fight drug war

Defense lawyers, bogged down with drug-related criminal cases, may soon be getting a helping hand from the federal government.

Madison County Public Defender John Rekowski said he is one step away from getting a $70,000 grant, the first of its kind for a downstate county.

The state Criminal Justice Information Authority, which distributes the federal money, has approved giving the money, provided the county comes up with a $3,333 matching grant. Rekowski said he planned to meet with the county's Grants Committee to make a pitch for the funds. The grant could help turn the tide in the drug war by getting counseling for offenders instead of tossing them in jail, Rekowski said.

If County Board members approve the matching grant, another assistant public defender will be hired to handle drug cases. Attorneys will also be trained to deal with clients who have drug problems and get them into treatment. The office now employs four full-time and three part-time lawyers.

"All we're doing is processing people (through the court system)," Rekowski said. "We've got to start doing something on a broader scale."

The money, he said, is needed to break the cycle of repeat drug offenders who are arrested, prosecuted, jailed and put back on the streets only to be arrested again. "We've got to get them off drugs," he said.

In the last 14 years, Illinois has built 14 prisons. "If one of them is full, and there is no end in sight," Rekowski said, "The idea that we can lock up the drug problem is a bankrupt idea."

Helping-agency needs help

The American Red Cross is recognized worldwide for "being there" when disaster strikes. Fires, wind damage and floods all are emergencies that would bring a Red Cross resource team to provide a place to stay, warm clothing, and a ray of hope to those in need. But now is the Red Cross that is facing disaster. More than half of the local chapter's $14,000 disaster-relief budget for 1992 has been spent in the first six weeks of the year. Tri-City Red Cross Chapter manager Ron Streller has been in this area for more than three years and said the first six weeks of 1992 have been the busiest time he has seen for fires in family homes. Streller said he plans to turn to the National Red Cross for assistance, but the national organization finds itself in a similar situation, drawing on reserve funds to meet the needs of the people it serves across the country. National figures show that the Red Cross was called to twice as many relief operations in 1991 as it had been in the years prior to 1990. The $14,000 disaster budget the Red Cross chapter has come from the local United Way. That budget has been increased from $6,000 in 1989. So now the Red Cross needs to turn to the community at large to ask for help. Donations to the relief fund can be made specifically for "local disasters" by marking that on the check. It is not likely that the incidence of disaster will continue at its unheard-of early-year rate of three to four per week, but it is even more unlikely to think that the local chapter's remaining budget would last through the end of 1992. These are our neighbors who are looking for someone to fall back on in their time of need. This is the American Red Cross looking for you to be there for them. Contact the Tri-City Chapter, 3928 Nameoki Road, 452-7184, to find out how you can help.

No wonder kids poorly educated; federal interference was harmful

TO THE EDITOR: Much ado about Japanese government officials' criticism of the quality of workmanship and the lack of education of Americans. This really should surprise no one. Remember their attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941, and atrocities committed against captured servicemen. We would do well to remember the death march on the island of Bataan and their vile prison camps with rotten rice with bugs, etc., that our people were fed, all the while their perpetual toothy smiles. They considered themselves superior in 1941 and they certainly have not changed, even though they surrendered unconditionally. How do they dare? We've never been allowed to treat them as they deserved. Our government, using tax monies, has poured funds into Japan. The oil fields in Alaska were developed over objections of the people of that state, and the bulk of that oil is shipped to Japan. Our business leaders have given them our technology, valuable technology indeed to our leadership in world trade. We also wonder where our labor leaders were hibernating in the 1950s when our markets were being flooded with all kinds of Japanese finished goods. Finished products were also being imported from dumb and called underdeveloped countries. Loans were made through the infamous World Bank, which is financed largely with U.S. dollars. Now, just as in the 1920s when our leaders were dumb and blind, chickens have come home to roost once again. Remembering when Americans of Japanese ancestry were interned during World War II for their own safety, I found it very hard to believe that our government awarded them thousands of dollars from our bankrupt treasury to compensate them for our protection at a time when ill feeling was prevalent all over the world, not only in the United States. So, our people are less than well educated. So, the quality of their work is inferior. If this be true, then let's consult the files of federal government controls in all phases of our lives, especially in the education system. Greedy politicians were enticed to accept federal funds in their districts. They then embarked on spending sprees. After all, the

Dixon has done much for county

TO THE EDITOR: I had to write after reading an article regarding Alan J. Dixon's re-election to the United States Senate. Sen. Dixon has carried the ball for many programs and projects in Madison County during his 10 years in the Senate and we should return him to Washington. One disgruntled politician said that "Mr. Dixon should tout" his base with some people in Madison County... Once in a while it wouldn't hurt to get back to the people who put you there. I have lived in Madison County virtually all my life and see Alan Dixon frequently. In fact, the Tri-City Regional Port District in Granite City obviously considers his presence to be significant. I christened a towboat "Senator Dixon" because he has provided and continues to provide leadership and effective public service to Madison County, the Metro East area and the state of Illinois. Our state has 102 counties and I say that Alan Dixon has more than touched base. He has run the bases many times here in Madison County and has scored many home runs for us. I have checked and found that, working with Jerry Costello, Paul Simon and the late Mel Price, Sen. Dixon can be credited with the following successes for Madison County: $377.3 million for the Melvin Price Locks and Dam; $3.6 million for the Wood River Drainage and Levee District; the renovation of the Martin Luther King and McKinley bridges; the new Clark Bridge; the Alton Bypass and Marina; the Mel Price Support Center; and the Tri-City Regional Port District. Also, $9.9 million for the Alton to Gale organized levee district; $6.9 million for flood damage prevention along the Mississippi River in the St. Louis Harbor, which serves both Illinois and Missouri. And, $2 million for the Metal Casting Research and Development Competitive Program of which American Steel Foundries (Granite City), Buckler Foundry Co. Inc. (East Alton), Duncan Foundry and Machine Works Industry (Godfrey) and Radar Metals (Alton) all benefit. These are just a few of the things our senator has done for us during the last 10 years. Sen. Dixon has been there for Madison County; you just need to look at his record. Unlike his two Chicago opponents, Dixon doesn't need a road map to find Madison County. We in the backwoods would do well to remember that. Alan Dixon knows this area and understands our needs. He's one of us. I will cast my vote March 17 for Sen. Dixon, a man with a proven track record. A first-hand, know-all the corners of this state... especially the Metro East area. ARABRA K. HODGES Former Granite City precinct committeeman and member of Madison County Democratic Executive Committee

Harrison doing a fantastic job

TO THE EDITOR: I know a man who ran for an elected office in a town where he grew up, in a town he loved. A man who is honest and wanted to serve the people and make our town a place to be proud of. He won that election against all odds, because you, the people, wanted a change in our system. That man is Clayton "Jug" Harrison, our superintendent of streets and my husband. He has done a fantastic job, considering the amount of manpower he was left with to get the job done. Most of us have read the papers and some of us have been to the City Council meetings or have seen them on TV. Are certain city officials so afraid of Jug's honesty and concern for our city that they resort to such tactics as we have read or seen on TV? Shouldn't we all be cooperative and work together? Isn't it time we all ask some questions? What is the real reason they want to get rid of Jug? Why is it so important to our leaders for superintendent of streets to be an appointed officer? What is really behind it? Do our votes count for anything? If our officials get away with ousting our elected officials, what happens to our democracy? Our right to vote? Does it mean nothing? Do our city officials have so much power that they can go against the people and override our votes? In that case, why do we have elections? Could all our upheaval be a personal vendetta against Jug? Could they want to make an example of the man and the people who beat the Granite City political machine? You elected officials should look out. You may be the next one to be ousted. What a shame that we gave so few so much power. Jug's daughters and I applaud his honesty, courage and integrity as Granite City superintendent of streets. Our hats are off to you, Jug. Says helmet laws restrict rights

TO THE EDITOR: I have recently heard about our federal government wanting Illinois to pass a helmet law. And the Feb. 2 paper had people saying they thought we should. Why don't people in this country wake up? First, I thought that blackmail and extortion were federal crimes. Yet, I see our government freely engages in these activities. They did that to us with the seat belt law and got it passed, and then betrayed the public. Originally, the seat belt law was only supposed to be enforced in conjunction with other violations. Now, suddenly we see roadblocks set up merely to check on belts. Has crime in our streets been so wiped out that our officers have nothing better to do? Personally, with all of our society's problems, I think our officers' time is better spent in such a way. If people are so anxious to give away their rights and freedom that our forefathers fought so hard for, then they should think again. What's next on the list? Laws requiring swimmers and boaters to wear life jackets at all times because someone drowned in the past? Or golfers to wear hardhats so they don't get hit in the head by the ball? People, maybe motorcycle helmet laws don't bother you because you don't own a motorcycle. But if so, then don't expect to get motorcycle riders to rally to your defense when the government wants to pass ridiculous laws to place limits on your favorite hobbies or pastimes. And by the way, motorcycle riders are also hard-working voters whose rights should be respected. Which is what this is all about, anyway. Rights are the issue here — not helmets or seat belts, but rights. TOM BUCKINGHAM Granite City

Freedom is issue

TO THE EDITOR: It was brought to my attention by the thoughtful efforts of my grandmother, a Granite City resident, that on Feb. 2 your news section called Voice Box made a so-called attempt to show an unbiased set of views on helmet laws. I say made an attempt because it was quite apparent you were not seeking out who would most be effected by this law. Not one of your interviews was with someone licensed by the state to operate a motorcycle. You must first remember that those whose rights you help remove now could result in the loss of your rights tomorrow. If this issue had been about the First Amendment, you can bet this and any other news organization in the state would make every effort to point out my previous statement. As members of Illinois A.B.A.T.E. (A Brotherhood Aimed Toward Education), Southern Freedom Chapter, a motorcycle riders' rights group, we make an effort to show, through education, how important freedom of choice is to everyone. For further information, you can contact A.B.A.T.E. of Illinois, Suite 418 Bond Building, 311 E. Main St., Galesburg, Ill. 61601 or call 800-87-ABATE.

Petitions prevail

TO THE EDITOR: The East Granite Citizens' Committee thanks all those who passed and signed petitions against curbside trash pickups. I'm a civic-minded person and work for the people, not against them. When asked by other civic-minded people what could be done to return trash to the alleys, as spokesmen I replied, "Fight back."

One of our main objectives was to prevent curbside pickups from spreading throughout all of Granite City. With the help of Aldermen Casmer Skubish and Juanita Crawford of Ward 1, our purpose was more easily accomplished. However, the aldermen in Wards 2 and 3 wanted curbside pickups, never considering how the voters and homeowners felt. We are grateful to Mayor Cruise for exercising his authority in having trash returned to the alleys. We would like to ask the citizens of Granite City to do their part in keeping the alleys clean. It is gratifying to know there are more people who take care of their property than offenders who trash the alleys. It would be nice if Granite City could be an "All-American City" once again. GERTRUDE BARKLEY Spokesman, East Granite Citizens' Committee

Pride from heart, not pocketbook

TO THE EDITOR: I was insulted not only once but twice by the remarks Japanese politicians made about the American people. Insulted, yes, but more so by our own marketing/advertising firms. We are being mentally assaulted by advertisers who now, all of a sudden, believe in the American product. You've never heard or seen such a push for our own goods until now. Why? Well, "not because" they believe in our products or our industry. It's because this type of advertising brings in more money for big business. Just listen to your TV or read any article. Again, why weren't we hearing about American-made products before all this happened? I don't need an actor to tell me about having pride in my country. I always have, and I still do. As for buying American-made products, I've been doing that for a long time, too. Let's see some new jobs and lower prices, better health care, and education here at home. Our big business patriots who see this country as only a dollar sign have shown us nothing. Are we all so easily fooled? Pride in America comes from the heart, not the pocketbook. 19 Democrats seek seven area County Board seats

Granite City Press-Record, Thursday, February 20, 1992—5A

Nineteen Democratic candidates are vying in the March 17 primary election in races for the seven area seats on the Madison County Board.

Only Nelson "Nellie" Hagnauer, the Madison County Board chairman, faces no opposition.

Four candidates are running in District 16, which is in Chouteau Township and the northern portion of Nameoki Township.

Charles "Tim" Knott, 28, of 1448 Chouteau Road, Mitchell, said that as a life-long resident of the community he is well acquainted with the concerns and problems of property owners in the district.

"If elected, I will speak out on the issues that concern my constituents and work to resolve them to their satisfaction," Knott said.

Knott is a scale clerk with Olin Brass in East Alton, where he previously worked as an operator. He is a graduate of Granite City High School and is certified in schematic and blueprint reading.

He is a Baptist and a member of Machinist Lodge 660. Knott is currently the Democratic precinct committeeman for Chouteau Precinct 6. He and his wife, Carol, have two children, Keri, 13, and Casey, 6.

Jim Riley, 42, of 115 West First St., Hartford, cites his experience working with county agencies and working with people among his qualifications for the county board.

He said he is seeking election "to make a better government, to keep property taxes down and to get the most out of every tax dollar spent, most of all, to not only hear every citizen's complaint, but to act on them. I will represent the people and not an interest group."

A sergeant with the Hartford Police Department, Riley previously worked at the South Rox. Police Department and Owens-Illinois Glass Co. He was born in Alton and attended Alton schools and the University of Illinois.

Riley is a member of the Sanford Avenue Baptist Church, Madison County Police Association, Illinois Police Association, Wood River Police Benevolent Association and United Steelworkers of America. He is currently vice president of the Hartford Library District.

Riley and his wife, Debra, have two children, Candice, 11, and Jacob, 7.

Miles is a district sales manager for Pepsi Cola Co. of Alton, where he has worked for 29 years. Born in Stewart County, Tenn., he graduated from Stewart County High School and has an industrial management certificate from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

He is a veteran of the U.S. Army and a member of the AMVETS, Eagles and Masonic Triple Lodge 835. He is of the Protestant faith.

Miles has served six terms as a county board member and is serving his second term as Chouteau Township supervisor. He previously served six terms as precinct committeeman for Chouteau 5.

Miles has served as chairman of Special Service Area No. 1, vice chairman of the Madison County Board and vice chairman of the Regional Sewage Treatment Board, of which he was a member of the original planning and organizing committee. On the county board, he has served on the Health Institutions, Personnel, Environmental, and Executive committees.

Miles and his wife, Joann, have three children, Morris, Wayne Miles and Jennifer Bolt, and one grandchild.

Helen M. Hawkins, 52, of 2600 N. Main St., Nameoki Township, said her qualifications include being dedicated, sincere and honest.

She said she has read the monthly minutes of the county board for the past 20 years.

"I know the issues of county government and would love to be the first woman ever elected from the Tri-Cities area to that position," Hawkins said.

Hawkins is a teaching assistant at Wilson School and previously worked as a supervisor at Famous Barr and an office worker with the county government.

A resident of this area for 36 years, Hawkins was born in Detroit and attended high school in Chicago. She is a member of St. Elizabeth Catholic Church, Women of the Moose, American Association of Retired Persons, American Legion and AMVETS.

Hawkins previously was elected as trustee of Nameoki Township. She has been the Democratic precinct committeeman for Nameoki 5 since 1974.

Hawkins and her husband, Hubert, have two children, Debra, 33, and Mark, 30.

Laub said. Laub is a maintenance planner with Granite City Steel. He was born in Granite City and attended Granite City High School and Illinois College.

He is a member of St. Elizabeth Catholic Church. A member of the Elks, Eagles and Knights of Columbus, he is Democratic precinct committeeman for Granite City 21.

Laub and his wife, Darlene, have three children, Frank, 32, Gregory, 30, and Beth, 26. Gerald "Jerry" Jackson, 65, of 3729 Fair Oaks, Nameoki Township, said that although he has been involved in politics for 40 years, this is the first time he has ever run for an elected position.

"I have no political machine backing me," Jackson said. "Therefore, I will not be obligated to anyone other than you, the voter, and to my own conscience and conviction."

Jackson is a retired foreman at Granite City Steel, where he worked at the open hearth and the basic oxygen furnace. Born in Granite City, he attended Granite City schools and Washington University in St. Louis.

He has earned certificates in business administration and chemistry. He served in the U.S. Navy and is a member of Concordia Lutheran Church, Madison County Soil and Conservation District Board and Horseshoe Lake Resource Planning Committee.

Jackson and his wife, Bonnie, have seven adult children.

Michael Antonovich Sr., 51, of 2325 Arnold Drive, Nameoki Township, said he has a business interest in the county and actively monitoring political issues here for 20 years qualify him for the position.

He said his priorities are to reestablish the publishing of real estate assessments in the news paper, ending job patronage and replacing it with a placement service, limiting area landfills and the importing of garbage, and opening the Madison County Nursing Home to more residents.

Antonovich is a railroad car inspector for the Terminal Railroad Association and is co-owner of the Madison Garden Shop, 1347 Madison Ave. Born in Granite City, he attended Madison public schools.

He is a member of the Maryville Assembly of God church and is serving his fourth term as the elected general chairman of the Brotherhood of Railway Car-men.

Antonovich and his wife, Carolyn, have three children, Michael Jr., 27, Kimberly, 23, and Nicholas, 15.

In District 20, which includes the central portion of Granite City, the only candidate is incumbent Nelson "Nellie" Hagnauer, 64, of 2708 Saratoga St.

Hagnauer said his long experience as the chief elected official in the county and his proven record show his qualification for the job, citing such county programs as utility bill help, weatherization, housing rehabilitation and job training.

Hagnauer was born in Granite City and is currently the Madison County Board chairman. He has been the county board chairman since 1972 and the Granite City Township supervisor since 1961. Hagnauer is the chairman of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council and chairman of the Madison County Transit District.

Hagnauer and his wife, Bernadine, have two adult children, Nelson Jr. and Carol Sue Nowell.

In District 21, which includes a large portion of central and eastern Granite City, there are two candidates.

Ray Romine, 46, of 2840 State St. said his leadership positions with the Granite City Fire Department and with the Fire-fighters Union have given him the qualifications to serve on the county board.

As a board member, Romine said he would want to provide District 21 with the best representation, to insure the best use of taxpayers' funds for roads, bridges, law enforcement and transportation. He would seek to provide care for the elderly and explore new programs, such as countywide recycling.

Romine is a captain with the fire department and previously worked at Granite City Steel. He was born in Granite City, graduated from Granite City High School and attended Eastern Illinois University.

He is a graduate of the Illinois State Police Academy's Arson Investigation Program and is currently attending Belleville Area College.

Romine is a member of Holy Family Catholic Church. He is vice president of Granite City Firefighters Local 225 and a member of the Knights of Columbus, Madison County Arson Association and Southern Illinois Arson Investigators.

He and his wife, Pamela, have three children, Mary, 26, Ray IV, 25, and Aimee, 9.

Vasil Eftimoff, 67, of 2800 Michigan Ave., the incumbent, said he has proven his qualification for the job in his 10 years as a county board member.

As a board member, Eftimoff said he would "continue serving District 21 on a full-time basis, maintain a balanced budget, allow no new taxes without voter approval, vote against any more foreign dumping in (county) landfills and create more jobs and industry."

Born in Granite City, Eftimoff is a retired school administrator. He served as an assistant to the superintendent, guidance counselor and school principal in Granite City and as a coach and principal at Bunker Hill and Brighton.

He previously worked at Laclede Steel, Granite City, and the U.S. Post Office.

Eftimoff earned a master's degree at St. Louis University, a bachelor's degree at Illinois College and also attended Southern Illinois University.

He is a member of the Eastern Orthodox Church, Disabled American Veterans, American Legion Post 113, Granite City Ambassadors, Ainal Temple, Tri-City Shrine Club, Scottish Rite, Boy Scouts, Old Six Mile Historical Society, Lewis and Clark Society, Madison County Arts Council and Eagles Aerie 1126.

He previously served as a member of the Granite City school board.

Eftimoff and his wife, Anita, have one child, James, 31.

District 22, as the result of redistricting last year, has two incumbents running as well as two challengers. The district covers a large portion of Madison as well as part of Granite City and the southern portion of Nameoki Township.

Tom Skubish, 52, of 2640 Edwards St., Granite City, said his qualifications include his experience as a Democratic precinct committeeman, small-business owner and former school teacher.

"I believe some political leaders have become so entrenched in their offices that they have lost touch with the people they represent," Skubish said. "Future officeholders will have to deal with the problems of continuing to provide many services while being confronted by an eroding tax base. This can only be done by strong leadership more in tune with the people's problems."

Skubish was born in Granite City and is a journeyman teamster with the Granite City Inspection Department. He is the co-owner of Tax and Medicare Transmitters and formerly taught Frather Junior High School. He earned a bachelor's degree in education at Southern Illinois University.

He is a member of Madison AMVETS Post 204 and the Madison Lions Club. Skubish is the Democratic precinct committeeman for Granite City 12.

Skubish has two children, Richard, 25, and Heather, 22.

Frank Dutko, 64, of 1808 Fifth Street, Madison, one of the incumbents, said his work in public service and law enforcement since 1950 qualify him for the job.

"I want to continue seeking out various ways and means of providing the citizens of (Madison County) with a more educated, safer, healthier and prosperous lifestyle without higher taxes being invoked," Dutko said.

Dutko was born in Hartshorne, Okla., and has lived in this area for 59 years. He is a security guard at Granite City Steel. He previously spent 27 years with the Madison Police Department, serving seven years as police chief. He graduated from Madison High School and attended Kirkville State Teachers' College, Illinois College and Belleville Area College.

He is a member of the Nativity of the Virgin Mary Orthodox Church in Madison and is a veteran of the U.S. Navy.

Dutko is a member of AMVETS Post 204, Illinois Police Association, Illinois Police Benevolent Association, Madison County Police Association and Southern Illinois Police Chiefs Association.

Dutko previously served as Madison alderman and as Democratic committeeman for Venice Township Precinct 7.

He and his wife, Sara, have five children, Cindy, 36, Robin, 33, Becky, 28, Kelly, 35, and Frank, 32, and five grandchildren.

Herbert "Junior" Milton, 61, of 2319 Washington Ave., Granite City, is the other incumbent and has been a member of the county board since 1972.

Milton said he is proud to be chairman of the building committee that is currently supervising the construction of an $18 million county administration building, work that is being done without a tax increase. He said he would continue to provide experienced, forceful leadership on the board.

"I have attended over 95 percent of the county board meetings and, as building committee chairman, am at the Courthouse almost every day of the week," he said.

Milton was born in Dover, Tenn., and has lived in Granite City since 1948. He is a retired millwright at Granite City Steel and is the former treasurer of United Steelworkers Local 67. He attended Granite City High School and the University of Illinois. He is of the Protestant faith.

He is a member of Masonic Lodge 835, VFW Post 1300, AMVETS, Elks Lodge 1063, Eagles Aerie 1126, Madison County Police Association and Steelworkers Organization of Active Retirees.

Milton and his wife, Elaine, have five adult children, 15 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Christ N. Paschoff, 1230 Madison Ave., Madison, said he has proven his qualification for the county board through 50 years of serving the public.

"With these past experiences, I would hope to, with the team of the county board, enrich Madison County by bringing industry back to the area and to work with legislators to

YOUTH FOCUS:

By Pam Doepke-Hurd

What do you think was the most significant event in Black American History? Asked of students at Venice, Madison and Granite City high schools.

Margaret Christiansen, Granite City

"In my opinion the most significant event in Black American History was the creation of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP). The NAACP was created in 1909 by a group of young Blacks led by W.E.B. DuBois and a group of whites. The NAACP's goal is to end discrimination against Blacks and other minority groups.

"The NAACP works to ensure blacks their constitutional rights, to oppose racism, to end discrimination and to abolish segregation. The group achieves its goals through legal and legislative action. They had a large part in the Supreme Court ruling in Brown vs. the Board of Education in Topeka.

The decision said the segregation in public schools is unconstitutional. The NAACP also played a leadership role in the passing of the Civil Rights Act of 1967, the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the Voting Rights Act of 1965. The establishment of the NAACP can be considered the most significant event in Black American History.

because of its past accomplishments and its continuing struggle for the rights of the Black individual."

Kathy Schmiedake, Granite City

"The most important event in black history was the 1954 Supreme Court case, Brown v. Board of Education of Topeka, Kan. In this case black elementary students were denied the right to attend public school. This landmark case reversed the ruling of Plessy v. Ferguson, which said "separate but equal" facilities were constitutional.

"The Brown decision required public schools to end segregation. This case was the beginning of a long battle for equal rights. Since then many things have been done to give black people equal rights."

Brian Welser, Granite City

"The most significant event in black American history occurred in Montgomery, Ala. in 1955. It was common at that time for blacks to be forced to sit in the back of a bus, while whites could sit where they wanted. A colored woman named Rosa Parks refused to give up her seat to a white person.

"Rosa Parks' arrest caused a boycott of buses by blacks, which was started by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Because of this boycott, many rules concerning the inequities toward blacks were changed. This victory propelled Dr. King into a national leadership role in the fight for civil rights."

Gabe Mitchell, Granite City

"Alex Haley, who just passed away of a heart attack on Feb. 11, 1992, wrote the book 'Roots' which was a very important book in black history. It was a story of a family that started in Africa and came to America in 1619. It was a very important book in black history."

10 of this year, gave the black race a newly founded place in this world, which at one time looked at blacks as nothing more than property, and a chance to look upon themselves with great pride.

"In addition to his novel, 'The Autobiography of Malcolm X,' in which he portrayed the life of a prominent black Muslim leader assassinated in 1965, Haley brought the history of blacks into hundreds of millions of homes in 1977 with his Pulitzer Prize winning novel and a twelve-hour television mini-series based on the novel, 'Roots: The Saga of an American Family.' The mini-series is still rated as one of the top 50 television shows ever broadcast. Haley spent over 12 years researching 'Roots,' in many libraries finally tracing his grandmother's past back six generations to Gambia, Africa, and her ancestors lifestyle as slaves in America. 'Roots' also inspired people of all races, blacks alike, to investigate their past and family and be thankful for the discovery of Alex Haley.

"There is no doubt in my mind that 'Roots,' a production of Alex Haley is indeed the most important moment in black history in reflection of the current status of blacks and the world today."

Brett Barron, Granite City
"Freedom is defined as the condition of not being controlled by obligation or the will of another. A African-American received their freedom, for the first time, under the Emancipation Proclamation. Presented by President Abraham Lincoln on Sept. 22, 1862, this manifest freed all slaves, as of Jan. 1, 1863, residing in the rebellious areas that seceded from the Union during the Civil War. However, the proclamation could not be executed until the Confederacy was overthrown or the slaves escaped to the North.

"The first account of any slave liberation from the Confederacy took place in June 1863. A Union naval unit seized several port cities on the coast of Texas. Officers then freed all slaves under the Emancipation Proclamation. The liberation occurred between June 13 and 15 and today is celebrated by African-Americans and is known as Juneteenth. For some, the Juneteenth holiday is celebrated instead of the Fourth of July because it represents the African-Americans day of freedom. The significance of the gift of freedom is that it gives people their liberty from oppression, their political independence, their civil rights, the capacity to exercise choice, and the right of enjoying all the privileges of citizenship."

Tanya Champignon, Madison
"One of the most significant events in black history occurred in 1831. A slave named Nat Turner led a slave uprising in Southampton County, Va. Nat Turner has been described as a mystic with blood on his mind, and a preacher with vengeance on his lips. He believed that God had sent him aside for some great purpose, that purpose being to kill the white man, and free the slaves.

On Aug. 21, 1831 at 1 a.m., Nat Turner and his army of slaves started the uprising by killing Joseph Travis, Turner's master. Before federal troops suppressed it, 60 white people and 100 black people were dead. General Daniel Hays went into hiding but was captured six weeks later. On Nov. 11, 1831, Nat Turner was executed by hanging. Nat Turner was one of the many slaves who tried to gain their freedom, and paid the ultimate price.

"I think one of the most important people in black history was Charles Richard Drew. Charles Drew was a black American physician known for his research on blood plasma and setting up blood banks during World War II. He discovered that plasma, the liquid part of blood, can be stored for long periods of time. The plasma collected by blood banks saved millions of lives.

Drew was born in 1902 in Washington, D.C. He graduated from McGill University Medical School then joined the Howard University faculty. At Columbia University (1938-1940) he became the director of the first Red Cross blood bank. In 1950 he died because he couldn't get a blood transfusion due to his race. Truly Charles Drew has done a lot for black history."

Mike Ferguson, Madison
"Some of the greatest events in black history were not as noticeable as ones that received national attention, yet they were just as important. One of these subtle events was

The Great Migration

"Even though they were freed from slavery because of the 13th Amendment, blacks after the Civil War and Reconstruction period were dealt with as if they were still in bondage. Tired of the segregation and sharecropping systems, they began to search for better places to live. Without a formal declaration made, blacks began to move to the industrial cities in the North where jobs were being formed by the thousands. Not only did they receive employment, but blacks became involved in political and economical situations. They also began to form one of the most outstanding cultures that would change music, art, and medicine to the present day. The Great Migration, although it would not be considered a news-making event, contributed to equality for blacks as much as any other event in black history."

Marvin Rhodes, Madison
"The most important event in black history was the emancipation of the slaves. It started with the first shot fired at Fort Sumter and ended, eventually, with the 13th Amendment. The emancipation of Negro slaves was a hard, winding road which was accomplished on Jan. 31, 1865, where it was summarized by some people as gangs of Negroes howling and dancing.

"Throughout the Civil War the fight to emancipate the slaves was aided by such great Americans as Frederick Douglass, who held speeches on the evils of slavery. Abraham Lincoln tried to win the approval of Northern and Southern negroes with his Emancipation Proclamation. These things small in depth but great in effect helped blacks everywhere in America sing the sweet song, 'Free at Last! Free at Last! Thank God Almighty! We're Free at Last!'"

Christine Sellers, Madison
"One of the most important people in black history was Booker T. Washington. He was the founder of the Tuskegee Institute which was a school developed to teach blacks training skills needed to better themselves enabling them to obtain better jobs. He believed that a person who developed himself to his fullest potential could achieve anything he put his mind to.

"Washington built Tuskegee Institute in Alabama. He put a strong emphasis on vocational training, farm and home ownership, and the development of small businesses. These things were necessary to provide black people with the skills they needed to earn a living."

Erica Glover, Venice
"I believe a most significant time in black American history occurred during the Civil War. Frederick Douglass voiced the sentiments of many free Negroes and slaves alike. He urged that black people living in the North be permitted to share in the danger and honor of upholding the government of the United States.

"Black American participation went far beyond combat in the Civil War. They learned military discipline. Many learned to read for the first time. Almost 2,000,000 black Americans served in the Army; two-thirds of them were ex-slaves. Ulysses S. Grant was enthusiastic in his praise of the courage and bravery of these troops. A lot of blacks gave their lives for the Union Army. They fought because they were concerned for other blacks and for their future in the South. Many black Americans thought the victory of the Civil War would end slavery and would be the beginning of freedom."

Antwon Gardner, Venice
"A significant event in black American history, in my opinion, is the ending of the era of legal segregation. Before this era ended American citizens lived under the 'Jim Crow Laws.' Blacks and whites had separate water fountains, separate restrooms, separate restaurants, and other separate public facilities of all kinds.

"Now that has all changed. Blacks are able to go to different places knowing that we are able to go there and there will be no legal reason for blacks and whites to be separate."

Chrystal L. Snow, Venice
"The most significant thing that happened in black American history was the Civil Rights Act of 1964. The act became a United States law that banned discrimination because of a person's color, race, national origin, religion or sex. The act primarily protects the rights of blacks and other minorities. It is one of the nation's strongest Civil Rights Laws.

"The rights protected by the act include a person's freedom to seek employment, vote, and to use hotels, parks, restaurants, and other public places. President John F. Kennedy proposed the act in 1963. After Kennedy's assassination later that year, President Lyndon B. Johnson continued to support Civil Rights legislation. I do hope that future presidents will support Civil Rights legislation also."

LeKeitha Hunter, Venice
"A significant event in African American history to me was when Rosa Parks had the courage to stand up for her right to be able to sit anywhere she pleased on the bus in Montgomery, Ala. This started the 11-month Montgomery, Ala. bus boycott.

"This bus boycott gave blacks the right to sit anywhere on the buses without having to give their seats up to a white person. By blacks getting their freedom to sit where they pleased, the bus boycott helped blacks realize for themselves that they would be able to overcome any obstacles that lay ahead of them on their journey to full equality."

Lakeisha Hunter, Venice
"The most significant person in black American History was Barbara Jordan. Barbara Jordan was born Feb. 21, 1936, in Houston, Texas. She was an American lawyer, educator, and politician. A congressional representative from Texas, she was the first black Congresswoman to come from the deep South. Barbara Jordan graduated Magna Cum Laude in 1956 from Southern Texas University, where she majored in political science and history.

"Later she returned to Texas, and worked as an administrative assistant to a judge. In 1966 she was the first black woman to enter the State Senate. As a congressional representative in 1974 she participated in and voted in favor of the impeachment of then President Richard Nixon. With her keynote address at the 1976 Democratic National Convention she confirmed her reputation as one of the most commanding public speakers of her era."

Tenisha Session, Venice
"The most significant event to me in Black American History happened in 1968 when Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. got shot. This happened in Memphis, Tenn. He had gone there to give a speech about freedom. The people wanted him to speak of peace. But some didn't like what he was doing so they killed him. It was the saddest thing that could have ever happened.

"I think that there was no reason for anyone to shoot him. All he was doing was trying to make this world a better place for you and me to live. He was trying to bring blacks and whites. If he had not done what he did, we would still have separate bathrooms, water fountains, restaurants and other facilities of all kinds. I'm glad he did what he did for us. I am proud of him for doing what he did. Everyone else should be too."

secure funds to help the economic stature of our area," Pashoff said.

Pashoff was born in Macedonia and has lived in Madison since 1926. He is a high school and trade school graduate.

Now retired, he worked in theater management for Arthur Enterprises for 35 years, as the Madison health inspector and as the Venice Township supervisor for 18 years.

Pashoff is a member of Sts. Cyril and Method Eastern Orthodox Church in Granite City, Salvation Army, United Way, Illinois and National Democratic organizations, Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, Rotary in Granite City and Madison, Elks, Lions, Eagles, Muscular Dystrophy Association and Variety Club of St. Louis.

He and his late wife, Mary, became the parents of DeeMara Spudich and Christine Saigh.

In District 23, which includes Eagle Park, Venice, and parts of Madison and West Granite, there are three candidates.

Don E. Garrett, 58, of 401 Sec. 9 St., Madison, the incumbent, said his qualifications include almost 20 years of public service, political skill and know-how combined with "an enviable record of bringing economic development and jobs" to District 23.

"I will continue to aid in bringing in new industries in the West Granite and Venice areas, like PVO Foods, Robinson Steel, Environmental Recycling, and Wal-Mart, and finish a $60,000,000 development for the city of Venice and to expand development in Eagle Park and the city of Madison," Garrett said.

Garrett was born in Madison and attended Madison schools, Washington University in St. Louis and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

He is the chief executive officer of Don Garrett Associates, a firm providing freelance writing, photography and publicity. He previously worked as a newspaper editor and journalist.

He is a member of the Bethel AME church in Venice, where he has served as a member of the usher board and as a trustee. He is a member of the YMCA, National NAACP and Citizens Utility Board.

Garrett is a former Madison alderman and a former Madison school board member. He has two children, Joyce, 21, and Chennelle, 6.

Steve G. Ortiz, 69, of 1744 Maple St., Granite City, said he has always been devoted to the best interests of the people and would continue to do the same as a member of the county board.

"I will encourage the county board to become more involved in getting new businesses to come to the county," Ortiz said. "I will propose an economic development board composed of labor and business leaders. If successful, the tax burden of the people would be reduced."

Ortiz, who was born in Wichita, Texas, has lived in Granite City 60 years and is a retired welder and power truck operator at A.O. Smith Corp. He attended St. Joseph Catholic School in Granite City and is a graduate of Granite City High School.

He is a member of Holy Family Catholic Church. Ortiz is president of Willing workers, a past president of the Mexican Honor Commission, and a member of the Knights of Columbus, Elks, and VFW Post 1300. He served eight terms as a Democratic precinct committeeman beginning in 1962.

Charles "Skip" Johnson, 61, of 815 Webster St., Madison, said 16 years with the U.S. Post Office in Madison and working for the Metropolitan Insurance Co. in Metro East have given him knowledge about the concerns of the residents of Madison County.

"For almost 20 years, I have been afforded the opportunity to listen to and share concerns on a face-to-face basis with a great number of people," Johnson said. "Therefore, I feel I will bring to this job a certain awareness of concerns unique to Madison County residents."

Johnson, who is now retired, worked as a letter carrier, a court liaison specialist for the Safety Council of St. Louis and as an insurance sales representative.

He was born in Madison and graduated from Dunbar High School. He attended Alabama State Teachers College, Hubbard's Business College in St. Louis, Ward's Computer School in St. Louis and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Johnson is a member of the Mount Nebo Missionary Baptist Church, Madison, where he serves as a deacon and chairman of the board of trustees and sings in the male chorus. He is a veteran of the U.S. Air Force and served in Korea. He is secretary of Masonic Jericho Lodge 120.

He and his wife, Louise, have an adult son.

In District 24, which includes most of Pontoon Beach, there are two candidates.

Robert Barthelmy, 41, of 30 Fontainebleau, Pontoon Beach, said being a lifelong resident who has been active in community affairs is one of his qualifications for the office.

He said he believes people are confused about what a county board member does because they haven't seen anything done.

"When I asked 'What has our county board member accomplished for us in the past 10 years?' no one could answer the question," he said.

"I would bring the county government back to the people by representing them the way they should have been, to be available for my constituents and to make sure the county tax dollars are spent in District 25 and every issue that is voted on will be for the people of District 25."

Barthelmy was born in St.

Louis. He graduated from Granite City High School and attended Belleville Area College, where he studied business law, and Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, where he studied industrial management.

He is a general foreman and pipefitter with Corrigan Mechanical Contractor in St. Louis and is a member of Pipefitters Local 562, Nameoki Methodist Church and Moose Lodge 17.

He and his wife, Diana, have six children, Thom Joseph, 23, Donna Marie, 22, Tina Lynn, 20, Patti Ann, 20, Lisa Renae, 18 and Alan, 16.

Donald C. Rea, 52, of 4237 Marigold Drive, Pontoon Beach, cites his "proven management abilities" and years of experience on the county board as his qualifications for the job.

Rea was born in East St. Louis and has lived in this area for 38 years. He is a manager of metallurgical services at Granite City Steel. He is a high school graduate and attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville for three years.

He is of the Protestant faith and a member of Elks Lodge 1083. He has served 16 years as a Pontoon Beach village trustee. Rea and his wife, Barbara, have three children, Denise, 26, Ronald, 31, and Donald, 34.

unless they can show they're indigent," O'Neill said. "That certainly wasn't the case here."

O'Neill pointed to the fact that Haine, when a county board member, had written a seven-page letter to the board recommending it deny payment of the fees. He said that two weeks after Haine took office, Haine presented a court order detailing the settlement to the board and told it the bill would have to be paid.

"You can't launder an illegal payment with a court order," O'Neill said. "And that's exactly what has been attempted here." Haine called that "garbage" and said the settlement was actually part of an attempt to "clean out some of the clutter" Allen and Dan O'Neill left hanging. Haine stressed that Weber wasn't involved in the payment and said it was a settlement of a lawsuit filed by Moorman and Groshong.

"There is a line of cases in Illinois law that say when an official is defending himself against charges involving the color of office, the case is acquitted, that the county is liable for the attorney's fees," Haine said. "I didn't create the law, but I have to live with it."

Haine said the money wasn't

Fire

The average age of children who die by fire is two years.

The program consists of a series of three initial interviews to try to determine what motivated the child to set the fire.

There are four categories of "fire play," Dawes said.

The "curious" fire-setter's actions are a result of the natural curiosity children have about fire. The fire is ignited from materials that are nearby. A child who lights a match and then drops it is an example.

A "troubled" youth's actions can be a response to a family problem, a new sibling, the loss of a pet or similar emotional upheaval. The fire characteristically involves some sort of deliberate action, such as looking for the tools to start the blaze.

"Troubled" fire play is usually preceded by one or two "curious" incidents.

"Delinquent" fire play results from purposely trying to inflict harm on some other person, such as vandalism. It is often the act of an older youth, possibly as an initiation rite to a club or a dare.

"Disturbed" fire play is the result of deep psychological problems that manifest themselves through fire play. Disturbed fire-setters show no remorse for their actions, Dawes said.

After a profile of the offender has been established, a treatment program is implemented.

Treatment for the "curious" offender usually consists of education intervention by the fire department. The child is taught the difference between a good fire, such as a fireplace or a cooking fire, and a bad fire.

More serious offenders are referred to a mental health agency in addition to the fire department education program.

The Child Development Program at SEMC is the only program in southern Illinois prepared to deal with the "disturbed" fire-setter, Dawes said.

The Granite City Juvenile Fire-setter program dealt with more than 80 youths last year. The first child Dawes met through the program admitted to setting more than 100 fires. He was 5 years old.

Unfortunately, most fire-setters have experienced two or three incidents before the fire department is contacted, Dawes said. By that time, some serious damage has usually resulted.

Dawes studied the national Juvenile Fire-setter program, developed by the Federal Emergency Management Agency, at the National Fire Academy.

"The Juvenile Fire-setter program is an integral part of the overall program we have tried to put together," Wallace said.

The comprehensive, proactive program Wallace is currently developing is called Fire Information Safety Awareness For Everyone — Operation FIRESAFE for short.

Building" covers everybody in the county and does not just a person or group, Nick Jamlos, D-Granite City, said.

"There are several things involved in changing the name," Milton said. "The move of the data processing area into the new building is only a month away (March 6). By changing the name at this juncture, we will have trouble with addressing the new building and the new 911 system to be on line soon, and letterheads, which means money."

A proposal to table the naming of the building was voted down 18-8. The board approved the building's name by the same vote.

The board also approved a resolution increasing the compensation rate to DeMars Construction Inc. for its increased costs for insurance and other items.

The rate will be increased $150 to a total of $3,484. DeMars provides construction observation services to the county for the administration building/courthouse remodeling project. Board member Michael Fruth, D-Edwardsville, questioned why the board, which has a contract with DeMars Construction Inc., would want to pay for an increase in a company's insurance rates.

"This man does more than the contract calls for," Jack Franden, D-Alhambra, said. "So this little money is insignificant compared to what we would have to pay others to do."

The board Wednesday also authorized the moving of the county data processing department on March 6.

Schmigge said he and his brother had been good friends for a long time.

Schmigge said he and his brother had been good friends for a long time. He said he and his brother had been good friends for a long time.

Schmigge denied that the two men had fought prior to the incident.

However, Sullivan testified that Jeff Schmigge had told police that the two had had "some kind of argument" after which Mikolaszusk walked away and James Schmigge ran after him while his brother went to get his truck.

Sullivan said an investigation is continuing.

According to a pathologist's report read by Madison County Coroner Dallas M. Burke, Mikolaszusk died of hemorrhagic shock secondary to stab wounds caused by the glass of a window that he had been pushed through.

Mikolaszusk's blood alcohol level was .263, more than twice the legal standard for intoxication of .10, Burke said.

Parking lot to be created

Thiems Construction Co. Inc. of Edwardsville was awarded a contract Wednesday for a Madison County governmental parking lot development project.

Thiems submitted the lowest of eight bids and received approval from the Madison County Board. The cost of the project will be $522,725, to be paid for with capital-project funds.

"All the bids were pretty close," County Building Committee Chairman Herbert Milton of Granite City said, adding that the range between the low and high bids was less than $30,000.

A groundbreaking date for the parking lot has not yet been scheduled.

The parking lot will be built on county-owned land adjacent to the new county administration building.

Four contiguous parcels of land along College and North Second streets cost the county $325,000 to acquire on Dec. 28, 1991.

This tract is bordered by another two parcels of land on Clay and Main streets, purchased by the board in October for more than $200,000. That land borders property the county already owned.

County officials have estimated that they will need 450 parking spaces for employees, 180 for visitors and 10 for county vehicles during building opens in May.

Probation

trail, compounding negligence with dishonesty," Elovitz said.

Elovitz also asked that the effect on Hicks' probation be taken into consideration. Elovitz said Hicks was the third of Drina Beckham's children to die and that she had been under a doctor's care since Hicks' death.

But Circuit Judge Charles V. Roman Jr. said Mike's lack of a prior felony record and the sentencing statute both made probation the "proper" punishment.

"It is hard to say whether or not your conduct caused the death of this individual. But the fact that you tried to cover up your lack of having followed regulations is something that you're going to have to live with," Roman said.

Neither defense attorney Bill Walker nor Mike spoke during the hearing due to pending litigation, Walker said.

A former wife of Hicks filed suit against Mike in November. Martha Dyanne Payne of Collinsville seeks in excess of $15,000 in damages on behalf of her 12-year-old son, Christopher Hicks. The suit was filed in Madison County Circuit Court by attorney Randall Steele.

Steele said Hicks also had two younger sons from another marriage who live in Texas. They are mentioned in, but not involved with, the lawsuit.

Warriors host Flyers; SWC hopes alive

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

Now that they're through playing their main conference rivals, the Warriors can only worry about themselves.

All eyes will be on the Collinsville-Bellefonte game Friday, but it won't mean much unless Granite City can win its last two Southwestern Conference games. The Warriors (6-2, 16-7) host East St. Louis at 8 p.m. Saturday in the final regular-season home game. They wrap up the season in Alton on Feb. 28.

"We handled them pretty good last time," said Warrior coach Bill Ohlendorf. "I know it won't be the same Saturday."

The Warriors were awesome in an 81-47 win at East Side on Jan. 17. Everything clicked that night as Drake Marshall led the way with 30 points.

"We were awfully good that night, but looking back at the film I can find some things we could have done better," said Ohlendorf. "Sometimes it's hard to get up for a game after you've already beaten a team like that once. It seems that way so far this week."

The Flyers are 13-9 overall and 4-4 in the SWC. They were in high gear last Friday in a 97-74 win over Alton. Tyrone Caswell had 23 points, while Alonzo Ierosi had 13. The Flyers, 13-9 overall and 4-4 in the league, will play William Tilden, Fernando Stevenson, Kendall Weston and Rodney Hawthorne all joined him in double figures.

"We did have a balanced first time 1987.

"We'll take a three-way tie," said Marshall. "It seems like Collinsville has dominated the conference since, well, how long?"

Since long before Marshall or any of his teammates were born. The Warriors are offering a different look these days with sophomores Leroy Samuels and Larry Mosby in the starting lineup. Mosby hit the dramatic winning shot at West last Friday.

"The seniors (Michael Dochwat and John Cozlar) they replaced have continued to come in and do the job we want," said Ohlendorf. The twins (Jeff and Brian Smith) need to play a little more physical at times, particularly Brian, but we're pleased with the job everyone is doing."

NOTES: The IHSA followed the seedings, so the third-seeded Warriors will host No. 14 Taylorville on March 4 (7:30 p.m.) in the first round of the Collinsville Sectional.

"I don't know anything yet about Taylorville, but we're going to scout them Friday," said Ohlendorf.

Last year all first-round games were played on Tuesday, but this year four of the games, including Granite City/Taylorville, are on Wednesday. All second-round games are Friday.

"We would rather have the extra day, but I think it comes down to the availability of officials," said Ohlendorf.

If the Warriors beat Taylorville, they would host the Jerseyville-Cahokia winner March 6.

Wrestlers hope for better fortunes

By Mike Kelly
Staff writer

Four Warriors hope the results are a little sweeter the second time around.

Pat Scheffer (103 pounds), Ryan King (119), Chris Hoffstot (140) and Jerry Heubschman (145) hope to benefit from the experience gained at last year's state wrestling tournament. They all made it to Champaign in 1991, but only Scheffer was able to win a match. That quarter will be joined this year by 130-pounder Dan Hicks.

"I'm not making any predictions," said coach Mike Garland. "But I feel pretty good about this group. All these guys, with the exception of Hicks, were there last season. There aren't any excuses this time. These guys just have to go up there mentally ready to wrestle."

"The main thing is winning that first match," said Scheffer (37-3), the only junior in the bunch. "Losing in the first round (by pinfall to Bay Thammara of Rockford-Jefferson) really depressed me. I came back and won a match in the wrestling backs, but my confidence level

Hicks (31-14) could find himself in a similar position. But a solid showing at the sectionals last weekend might get him over the hump.

He defeated Peter Smith of Candorale and Tony Byrd of Belleville East before finishing second to Roger Harris of Cahokia.

"I've always told the kids there's a sleeper in the crowd at state tournament time," Garland said. (See CHAMPAIGN, Page 58)

Large Tigers too much for Devils, 77-44

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

Not often in the past nine years has a Venice team gone into a game with little chance to win—particularly at home.

But the outcome was almost inevitable Tuesday. East St. Louis Lincoln lost had too much manpower for the Devils and broke things open in the second half for a 77-44 win.

Venice (13-11) is trying to build some confidence for next week's Freeburg Regional, but this game couldn't have done too much in that regard. After leading only 30-25 at halftime, the Tigers (14-6) used their superior size and muscle to outscore the Devils 47-19 in the final 16 minutes.

"It's all about getting in shape," said Venice coach Clinton Harris. "We're down to eight varsity players and we have to rely on some junior varsity players. The JV played a good game tonight, and some of them had to come back in the varsity game. Some of our varsity players had to play almost the whole game. We're not in good enough shape to do that right now."

Certainly not against the senior, led the way with 28 points and nine rebounds. With Derrick Bogay and Lawrence Brazil both standing 6-7, Lincoln had a prohibitive size advantage. The Devils were able to overcome that in beating the Tigers the last two years, but it wasn't close this time.

"Clint just doesn't have the players like he used to," said Lincoln coach Bennie Lewis. "Those things come and go. He's a good coach and he will have them back up there soon."

The Devils are victims of their own standards. It seems like it's been a bad year, but they are still over .500. But Tuesday's loss was the fifth in six games and a 15-3 Summer team visits (See LINCOLN, Page 58)

Lady Warriors brace for Lady Panthers again

Jerseyville has not been kind to the Lady Warrior basketball team in recent years. But Granite City will give it one more try tonight.

The Lady Warriors (14-9) will be rewarded for their 58-50 win at Belleville East on Monday with a trip to Jerseyville tonight to face the top-seeded Panthers (23-1) in the second round (regional championship) of the Granite City Sectional. If Granite City could somehow pull it out, it would return to its home court for the sectional semifinals and finals next week.

In 1988 and 1990, the Lady Warriors won regional titles. On both occasions, they met Jerseyville in the Highland Sectional semifinals. The results were 73-40 and 69-26 defeats. Last week Jerseyville beat them 75-39 in the regular-season finale. That's an average margin of defeat of 37 points.

This Panther team seems to be much like those of recent vintage. There aren't many big stars for the sectional individual statistics—just lots of wins. Army Tuetken leads Jerseyville with 13.7 points per game and she's an 85.1 percent free throw shooter. Kathy Sinclair is among the area leaders with 6.2 assists and 5.1 steals per game.

Granite City coach Allen Lob-dell saw his team do plenty of good things Monday, but he knows they'll need more tonight. Sophomore center Jamie Cavanes will need to continue her recent hot streak along, and Granite City will have a size advantage with Cavanes, Karen Sykes, Stephanie Kult and Dana Dresh.

Belleville West was the only other team besides Granite City

Tales of hockey, wrestling, hoops, Big D and Johnny

Cleaning out the ol' notebook... What a tough ending for the Warriors hockey team Monday night at the South County Recreation Complex.

Granite City (18-6-1) dug itself a hole with a 3-1 loss to Parkway South on Friday, and they couldn't quite escape. It's not often a team loses to Parkway South into an empty net, but that's what happens when you have to win. Had the Warriors only needed a tie, they would have had it easily.

Mike Naeve hit the goalpost in the first 15 seconds and the goal Parkway South scored a time expired in the second period was hard to believe. It's strange that three of the Warriors' six losses came to Parkway South. The Patriots have a fine team, but not that much better than Granite City — if at all. But those are the breaks. The Warriors own victories over two of the teams — Kirkwood and CBC — in this weekend's semifinals.

It was hard to take for an excellent crop of seniors. Derek Zirkelbach, Mark Nenniger, Chad St. Peters, Naeve, Kevin Sitton, Dave Egan, Nathan Weaver, Greg Obucina, Mike Hatfield and Danny Thomas. Coming back, among others, will be goalie Brent Golden along with Mike Jares, Chris Goclan, Jason Crist, Craig Wagner and Rick Whyers.

"We won't be as talented next year, but I hope we can keep the program going to where it's a tradition and the young kids want to get here and do well," said head coach Jake Hinterser. It was a trying week for Hinterser as he completed his first season at the helm. Son Todd and his wife were expecting their first child and Jake's wife Judy was in the hospital for a major operation.

"It was hard to think about hockey," Jake said. Hinterser is probably the most respected hockey man in town. He's not sure if he will return next year to the high school program, but unless someone as good can be found it would be best for the program if he did.

 If there were any doubts as to how tough the state wrestling tournament gets at each progressive level, they were erased Saturday.

The Warriors romped through the regular season virtually untouched, yet "only" five of them will go to state this weekend. Five isn't bad. In fact, it's their biggest delegation in 10 years. Good luck to Pat Schaffer, Ryan King, Dan Hicks, Chris Hoffstot and Jerry Heuschman.

Coach Mike Garland was right when he said he was disappointed for the kids and not disappointed in the As. As a former wrestler, Garland knows how tough it is. He's proud of this group of seniors, most of whom have been wrestling at the varsity level for three years.

Others like T.J. Slay, Jason Moerlen, Mark McKeehan, Scott Simon, Andy Richards, Jeff Heuschman and Al Willard enjoyed big seasons, but there is little time for them to think about missing state. They can still go. The Warriors resume dual meet competition against Edwardsville next Tuesday in the Bethalto Sectional. Two wins there and the team will advance to the eight-team state finals Feb. 29 in Normal.

For the record, the Warriors have had eight state champions: George Nemeth in 1957 (95 pounds) and 1958 (103); Charles Merzian in 1945 (105) and 1946 (112); Bill Haven in 1940 (125); Bob Bayer in 1938 (135); Bob Miller in 1969 (103); and Kris Whelan in 1977 (98). When won the Class A title for Granite City North.

The Warriors have had 17 wrestlers take second, the most recent being Doug Wilson at 132 pounds in 1972. Brent Davis took third at 125 in 1989. At the team level, the 1965 Warriors coached by Red Schmitt tied for the state title with Oak Lawn Reavis (31 points).

 For the first time in many years, the Warrior basketball team has a better chance to make some noise in the postseason than either Madison or Venice. The Trojans and Red Devils are fighting just to stay over .500, and neither figures to last long in the regional.

The third-seeded Warriors host Taylorville on March 4, then host a second-round game March 6 (possibly against Jerseyville). If they survive those, they're on a collision course towards a rubber match with Collinsville at Fletcher Gym in the sectional semifinals March 11.

Good luck to former Warrior and SIUE pitcher Darin Hendrickson. Big D is trying to hook on in pro baseball. He's already been to Florida once and is returning again at the end of the month. Teams who have expressed some interest include the Cardinals, Cleveland and Montreal.

Hendrickson won't bowl anyone over with velocity, but he knows how to get people out. Speaking of local baseball players, the SIUE Cougars will start the season in a few weeks ranked among the nation's top 20 in NCAA Division II. Tim and Jamie Hogan return for their final seasons. The twins are fine players, but senior first baseman John Moad should get a long look from pro scouts this year.

He might not have a lot of speed, but Moad is top-notch as a hitter and fielder. He enjoyed a great junior year for the Cougars and should only get better this spring. In addition, he's one of the nicest young men around and it would be great to see him get a chance.

Erwin Claggett on strong Claggett gets conference honors at SLU

By Steve Porter
Staff writer

Erwin Claggett is testing new waters this year. Sometimes he treads, other times he floats. Nevertheless, the Venice High School graduate is experiencing a whirlpool kind of sensation as a freshman basketball player at St. Louis University. He has gone from the small-school Illinois prep style to the high-profile swirling status of the NCAA Division I college game.

It's a transformation, he said a different kind of game. "The biggest thing is the strength of the players," said Claggett, a Class A All-Star last year at Venice. "There's a lot of bumping and hand-checking. You have to be mentally strong and not be bothered by all of those distractions."

Claggett was doing the bettering last week. He pumped in a career-high 21 points Feb. 12 as a starter in an 89-69 win over Texas Christian and he had 11 points Saturday in an 89-60 loss to Cincinnati. He followed that with a team-high 20 points in Monday's 68-62 loss to Illinois State and was named the Great Midwest Conference Player of the Week. SLU hosts Memphis State tonight at the Arena (7:30 p.m.).

Claggett, who averaged 24 points a game, had seven rebounds and five assists during his senior season at Venice, has discovered other distractions.

The Billikens are 5-18 and in last place in the Great Midwest Conference. The Billikens have had two players transfer—Melvin Robinson to Arizona State and Carlos Skinner to Kentucky Wesleyan—and lost a third starter, Ryan Grant, to injury.

More than once this season, Claggett wondered which way the program was going and if he was going to be a big part of it. He even thought briefly about transferring, perhaps to Northern Iowa, where high school teammate Dale Turner (now a senior) has had a successful college career.

"I felt I wasn't playing that much," he said. "So in December, I talked to the coaches because my minutes were decreasing. We saw eye-to-eye about things. We both wanted what was best for the team."

And it has benefited the Bills even if they have to start four freshmen, including 6-4 Julian Winfield of St. Louis, 6-4 Scott might best be described as his major move outside.

"I'm not afraid to go up against anybody," Claggett said. "I guess it's my background, being from Illinois and playing against a lot of good competition."

The neighborhood games between the youngsters of Venice and Madison, Brooklyn and East St. Louis have produced a wealth of talented players. Venice has had its share. Turner and Jesse Hall (Michigan State and SLU) preceded Claggett, who also had two older brothers (Carvel and Charles) who starred at Madison.

"They're really good friends," Claggett said of Hall and Turner. "I play against them most every day in the summer."

"Jesse has helped me a lot," Claggett said. "He told me to be tough, remember where I came from or that I'm doing badly. I shouldn't get my head down."

So the learning process continues, in and out of troubled waters.

"I'm adjusting to be a team player," Claggett said. "At Venice, we didn't run too many plays and most of the plays we did run were for me."

Erwin Claggett
... quick and explosive

Highmark of St. Louis and 6-9 Brian Smith of Chicago. It has nudged them into a full-scale rebuilding program.

The win over TCU was the most impressive of the season. And even though the Billikens ran out of gas against Cincinnati, Claggett had a strong first half that enabled the Bills to grab a 34-31 lead.

"Erwin is quick, explosive and a tremendous one-on-one player," SLU coach Rich Grawer said. "He can be streaky, but when he's on he's tough to handle."

Claggett, a business management major, is averaging 8.5 points and he's hitting 79 percent of his free throws. Shooting tonight for the final regular-season game.

"I always have high hopes," said Harris. "The kids were talking about playing well and winning tonight, but it's hard to say how much they really believed it. We just can't give up. It's a new season starting next week."

The Devils tried to stay close with three-point attempts, but made only 6 of 21. Ivan Johnson made three and led Venice with 11 points. But center Marcus Franklin was held to nine points and five rebounds.

said. "Dan Hicks happened to be that guy this season. He beat two tough wrestlers and got to the finals. Harris was just a little too much for him in the title match."

"Harris went after me like it was the state finals," Hicks said. "But you've got to expect that from a great wrestler like him. The sectional showed me I can hold my own against the best."

Hicks isn't nervous about his first trip to state.

"The butterflies will probably catch up with me (tomorrow)," Hicks said. "But right now I'm just approaching it as another tournament."

"I haven't even asked the guys what it's like up there. They can tell me what to expect, but I've got to experience it for myself."

"There's no reason to be nervous," Garland said. "Every wrestler in the state is feeling the jitters right now. A third of the wrestlers are just glad to be there, another third hopes to place and the other third wants to medal. It depends which category you fall into."

Hicks says the huge crowds and the size of the Assembly Hall shouldn't have an effect on him.

"Crowds don't bother me," he said. "I've wrestled in front of crowds all season. I've just got to go out there with an aggressive attitude and control the match."

Heuschman (37-7) has the same attitude.

"I want to place this season," Heuschman said. "Last year, it was a big deal getting to state. Now, I want a medal. I won't accept anything less."

Brent Davis was Granite City's last place winner in 1989. He finished third at 125 pounds. "Our goal is to place at state," said Hoffstot (39-5-1). "We're better prepared this season. Everything was new to us last year, but there won't be any distractions this time."

King is 41-2.

The top six wrestlers receive medals. The two-day tournament begins tomorrow at 11 a.m. The second session starts at 6 p.m. The finals will be Saturday at 10 a.m. and 6 p.m.
